

Franvisa Dark Blue Grey Slate

Franvisa slate originates from the La Bana region of Northern Spain, renowned for its superior slate production. It belongs to the La Hebra type slate category, known for its exceptional quality.

Franvisa is characterized by its heavy, robust and rugged characteristics, unique texture, and resemblance to the esteemed Welsh Cwt-Y-Bugail Dark Blue Grey Celtic slate. It features a distinctive dark blue-grey colour, exuding elegance and sophistication.

The slate stands out as an superb choice for discerning roofing professionals and homeowners seeking an elegant and durable roofing slate for residential and commercial roofing projects.

Features:

- Thickness: Franvisa is stocked in a Prime Heavy (8mm) Grade, giving it a robustness that ensures longevity and resilience against harsh weather conditions, making it ideal for the British climate.
- Grain: Belonging to the La Hebra family, Franvisa slate exhibits a unique texture and recognisable vertical grain pattern. The extra thickness produces a beautifully rugged edge detail, adding to its aesthetic appeal.
- Resemblance to Welsh Cwt-Y-Bugail Slate: Franvisa slate bears a striking resemblance to the iconic Welsh Cwt-Y-Bugail Dark Blue Grey Celtic slate, offering a more cost effective solution for a comparable appearance from a high quality alternative.
