Spanish Pizarra Natural Slate Blanks

These are produced from our excellent quality Spanish Pizarra slate. They have a distinctive sand blasted finish, which gives it an aesthetic appeal very reminiscent to the flame textured slate produced from our local Burlington quarry in the UK. The finish gives our Pizarra excellent slip resistance. It should be noted that our Pizarra product does occasionally contain white veins of quartz, also similar to the Burlington product.

They are supplied naturally with sawn edges. But we do have access to local workshop facilities and can therefore supply in a wide range of bespoke sizes and finishes.

Commonly used for steps, hearths, copings, sills, worktops and much more.
